

We as a service provider

Beside the primary activity as a producer, the InterRed GmbH does also undertake the consultancy, planning, realization and later attendance of your projects. After a detailed analysis, experienced project teams develop the requirement specifications for your demands, which become the transparent basis for the realization. For the realization and implementation the InterRed GmbH does also involve partners and agencies.

We as a consultant

Our responsible consultants and project managers all have long-term project experiences regarding projects in the publisher and industry sector. This know-how is of great use for all Content Management projects of our customers, no matter if handling cross-medial information portals, workflow-intensive Content Management Systems or complex knowledge management applications.

We as an implementer

We realize the defined project with established project management proceeding, in close collaboration with the responsible managers of our customers and the involved partners. Our experience with industry-sector-specific customer wishes, as well as the precise knowledge of the abilities of our product, enable a successful and efficient implementation of your demands in time and in budget.

We as an attendant

If desired, InterRed attends your Content Management System and your project even after the launch date. Depending on the requirements and agreements, we are available to you at all times. The conclusion of a software contract comprises the installation of all new releases of the specific version, thereby ensuring that you are attended permanently and kept up to date.

InterRed as a success factor

With the implementation of InterRed by the InterRed GmbH you can be sure to receive an optimal and success-promoting solution. The long-term experience of our consultants in the publishing and industry sector results in a high standard solution regarding technology and concept.
